Hemas Southern Hospital became the first port of call for medical attention for many cricketers and match officials during the recently concluded Muttiah Muralidaran's farewell Test match played at Galle.

Located within 200 metres from the Galle international cricket stadium it was the most convenient location for them to get across to Hemas Southern Hospital for medical services.

"We are extremely pleased with the service provided by Hemas Southern Hospital during the match when many Sri Lankan and Indian players as well as match officials obtained emergency and non-emergency treatment" commented Secretary-Southern Province Cricket Association & Director of the Galle Stadium, Jayananda Warnaweera.

"It is a great asset to have a modern sophisticated hospital in the neighborhood especially when we host international cricket matches" he added.

Expressing his satisfaction on the selection of the Hospital, Dr. Sajeeva Narangoda Chief Operating Officer of Hemas Southern hospital said, "We are extremely pleased to have been selected by the Southern Province Cricket Association to provide paramedical and ambulance services inside the ground during the Test match and to treat cricketers and officials within our hospital".

Hemas Southern Hospital is a 50 bed secondary care general hospital which has added a new dimension to the Southern Province health care delivery system.

Hemas Southern Hospitals is a subsidiary of Hemas Holdings. Hemas is one of Sri Lanka's leading conglomerates with a focus on five key sectors FMCG, Healthcare, Transportation, Leisure and Power Generation.
